Auktionsbedingungen

Durch die Teilnahme an der Auktion werden die folgenden Bedingungen anerkannt:

1. Die Versteigerung erfolgt in Schweizer Franken. Der Zuschlag erfolgt nach dreimaligem Aufruf an den Höchstbietenden, dessen Gebot vom Auktionator (für elektronische (online) Auktionen: virtueller Auktionator) anerkannt wurde, und verpflichtet zur Annahme. Der Ausruf erfolgt in der Regel bei 80%, sofern nicht höhere Angebote vorliegen. Schriftliche Gebote haben Vorrang. Jeder Ersteigerer verpflichtet sich persönlich für die durch ihn getätigten Käufe. Er kann nicht geltend machen, für Rechnung Dritter gehandelt zu haben.
2. Telefonische oder schriftliche Bietaufträge (auch per E-Mail oder Fax) von nichtanwesenden Interessenten werden bis 24 Stunden vor Auktionsbeginn entgegengenommen. Elektronische Angebote über die Onlineplattform werden bis zum Zeitpunkt des Beginns der elektronischen Auktion angenommen. Telefonische Bieter sind damit einverstanden, dass das Gespräch aufgezeichnet werden kann. Das Auktionshaus übernimmt keinerlei Haftung für schriftliche, elektronische und telefonische Bietaufträge.
3. Bieter werden gebeten, sich vor der Auktion zu legitimieren und anschliessend registrieren zu lassen. Das Auktionshaus kann eine Bankreferenz und/oder Sicherheiten verlangen. Es steht im Ermessen des Auktionshauses, eine Person nicht an der Auktion teilnehmen zu lassen.
4. Es steht dem Versteigerer nach seinem Ermessen frei, ein Gebot heraufzusetzen oder ohne Angabe von Gründen abzulehnen. Der Versteigerer behält sich ferner das Recht vor, Lose zu vereinigen, zu trennen, ausserhalb der Reihenfolge anzubieten oder wegzulassen bzw. von der Auktion zurückzuziehen.
5. Auf dem Zuschlagspreis ist ein Aufgeld von 21,0% zu entrichten. Bei Auktionen, die nur auf elektronischem Weg (online) durchgeführt werden, wird kein weiteres Aufgeld erhoben. Die schweizerische Mehrwertsteuer von 7,7% wird auf den Endpreis (Zuschlagspreis plus alle weiteren vom Auktionshaus dem Käufer in Rechnung gestellte Beträge) erhoben. Goldmünzen (AV) sind von der MwSt befreit.
Bei Ausfuhr des ersteigerten Objekts ins Ausland wird dem Käufer die MwSt zurückerstattet, wenn er eine rechtsgültige Ausfuhrdeklaration des schweizerischen Zolls beibringt.
6. Der Gesamtpreis wird mit erfolgtem Zuschlag zur Zahlung fällig und ist bei der Aushändigung des Objekts zu bezahlen, ausser es sei vor der Auktion eine andere Abmachung getroffen worden. Für verspätete Zahlungen wird ein Verzugszins von 1% pro Monat in Rechnung gestellt. Das Eigentum geht erst mit der vollständigen Bezahlung auf den Käufer über. In der Regel liefert NAC das ersteigerte Objekt nicht vor der Bezahlung an den Käufer aus. Eine allfällige frühere Auslieferung bewirkt keinen Eigentumsübergang und ändert nichts an der Zahlungsverpflichtung des Käufers.
Hat der Käufer nicht sofort und auch nicht innert fünf Tagen ab Erhalt einer eingeschriebenen schriftlichen Mahnung bezahlt, so ist NAC ohne weiteres und ohne weitere Anzeige berechtigt, vom Verkauf zurückzutreten.
7. Versand und Versicherung erfolgen auf Kosten und Risiko des Empfängers. Im Ausland verrechnete Gebühren und Steuern gehen zulasten des Käufers (Ersteigerers). Diesem obliegt es, sich über ausländische Zoll- und Devisenvorschriften zu informieren. Das Auktionshaus übernimmt keine Haftung für allfällige Zuwiderhandlungen gegen solche Vorschriften.
8. Das Auktionshaus garantiert vorbehaltlos und zeitlich unbeschränkt für die Echtheit der Münzen. Alle Angaben im Katalog wurden nach bestem Wissen und Gewissen zusammengestellt.
9. Die zur Versteigerung gelangenden Objekte werden für Rechnung Dritter versteigert oder sind Eigentum des Auktionshauses. Der Käufer (Ersteigerer) hat keinen Anspruch auf Bekanntgabe des Einlieferers und ist damit einverstanden, dass das Auktionshaus auch von diesem eine Provision erhält.
10. Die vorstehenden Bedingungen sind Bestandteil eines jeden einzelnen an der Auktion geschlossenen Kaufvertrags. Änderungen sind nur schriftlich gültig. Sofern Teile dieser Auktionsbedingungen der geltenden Rechtslage nicht mehr oder nicht vollständig entsprechen sollten, bleiben die übrigen Teile in ihrem Inhalt und ihrer Gültigkeit unberührt. Massgebend ist die deutsche Fassung dieser Auktionsbedingungen.
11. Das Vertragsverhältnis zwischen den Parteien untersteht in allen Teilen dem schweizerischen Recht. Erfüllungsort ist der Sitz des Auktionshauses in 8001 Zürich, und ausschliesslicher Gerichtsstand ist Zürich.

Conditions of Sale

The following terms and conditions are accepted by all persons participating in the auction:

1. Auction bidding is conducted in Swiss Francs. The highest bidder who has been acknowledged by the auctioneer when the hammer falls after the third call has legally bought the lot (for e-auctions there will be a virtual auctioneer). Bidding usually begins at 80% of the estimate, provided no higher offers have been submitted. Written bids have priority. The successful bidder has committed himself personally to the purchases made. He cannot claim to have acted on behalf of a third party.
2. Absentee bidders can send bids electronically until the beginning of the sale. Bidders wishing to send a written bid by email, fax or participate by telephone must send their bids no later than 24 hours before the start of the auction. Telephone bidders must agree that calls may be recorded. The auction house does not accept liability for bidding mandates made by telephone, electronically or in writing.
3. Bidders must show proof of identification before the auction, and subsequently be registered. The Auction House may require a bank reference and/or guarantee. The Auction House reserves the right to deny a person from participating in the auction.

4. The auctioneer may raise or reject a bid without giving a reason, and furthermore reserves the right to combine or split up catalogue lots, or to offer them out of sequence or omit or withdraw them from the auction.
5. A commission of 21.0% will be levied on the hammer price – For electronic auctions no additional commissions will be charged to internet bidders. The Swiss value added tax (VAT) of 7.7% is payable on the final price (hammer price, plus buyer's commission and any other amounts chargeable by the Auction House to the buyer). Gold coins (AV) are exempt from VAT.
If the purchases are exported, then the VAT will be refunded on production of a legally valid original export declaration issued by Swiss Customs.
6. Payment is in Swiss Francs and is immediately due upon adjudication of the lot and has to be paid with the release of the object to the Buyer, unless otherwise agreed before the sale. Late payments will incur a monthly default interest of 1%. Title in a lot will not pass to the Buyer until NAC has received full payment on their account. NAC will generally not release a lot to a Buyer before payment. Earlier release of the lot does not affect its title nor the Buyer's obligation to pay. If the Buyer has failed to make immediate payment and within 5 days after receipt of a registered, written reminder by NAC to the buyer, NAC may in its sole discretion cancel the sale of the lot.
7. Shipping and insurance are at the buyer's cost and risk. Any fees and charges payable abroad are borne by the buyer (successful bidder) who is responsible for acquiring the necessary information about any applicable customs and foreign exchange regulations. The Auction House accepts no liability for any contraventions of such regulations.
8. The Auction House offers an unconditional and unlimited guarantee for the authenticity of coins. All identifications and descriptions of the items sold in this catalogue are statements of opinion and were made in good faith.
9. The objects which come under the hammer are auctioned on behalf of a third party or are the property of the Auction House. The buyer (successful bidder) has no entitlement to have the identity of the consignor disclosed to them and acknowledges that the Auction House might receive a commission from the consignor for the sale.
10. The above conditions are a component of each individual contract of sale concluded at the auction. Alterations must be made in writing in order to be valid. If any parts of these Terms and Conditions should be no longer or not fully be in conformity with the valid legal situation, this shall not affect the content and validity of the remaining parts. The above-mentioned conditions are written in German, French, Italian and English; the only valid text is the German one.
11. The contractual relationship between parties is subject in all facets to Swiss law. Place of performance is the registered office of the Auction House in 8001 Zurich, and the exclusive court of jurisdiction is Zurich.

Conditions de la vente aux enchères

Du fait de la participation à la vente aux enchères, les conditions suivantes sont réputées être acceptées :

1. Les enchères sont effectuées en Francs Suisses. L'adjudication est réalisée après trois appels consécutifs du plus offrant dont l'offre a été acceptée par le commissaire priseur et qui constitue une obligation (pour les ventes aux enchères électroniques il y aura le commissaire priseur virtuel). La mise à prix est effectuée en règle générale à 80 %, dans la mesure où il n'y a pas d'offres disponibles et plus élevées. Les offres formulées par écrit sont prioritaires. Chaque enchérisseur s'engage personnellement en ce qui concerne les acquisitions réalisées par ses soins. Il ne peut pas faire valoir le fait d'avoir agi pour le compte d'une tierce personne.
2. Les demandes d'enchères par téléphone ou par écrit (également par moyen électronique) pour les personnes intéressées et non présentes (ou plutôt en ligne pour les ventes aux enchères électroniques) doivent être réceptionnées jusqu'à 24 heures avant le début de la vente aux enchères. Les enchérisseurs par téléphone acceptent que la communication téléphonique puisse être enregistrée. La salle des ventes n'assume aucune responsabilité quant aux enchères effectuées par téléphone, électronique ou par écrit.
3. Les enchérisseurs sont priés de se légitimer avant la vente aux enchères et de se faire enregistrer à l'issue de la vente. La salle des ventes peut exiger une référence bancaire et/ou une garantie. La salle des ventes a le droit de ne pas laisser une personne participer à la vente aux enchères.
4. L'enchérisseur peut, à sa guise, surenchérir une offre ou bien la décliner sans indication de motifs. L'enchérisseur se réserve en outre le droit d'associer des lots, de les séparer, de faire des offres en dehors de l'ordre prévu ou de les laisser de côté, voire de se retirer de la vente aux enchères.
5. Une commission de 21,0% est perçue sur le prix d'adjudication. Les acquéreurs qui souhaitent participer aux enchères en ligne avec nos facilités Live Internet ne paieront pas de frais supplémentaires. La taxe à la valeur ajoutée suisse d'un montant de 7,7 % sera perçue sur le prix définitif (prix d'adjudication plus supplément et sur tous les autres montants facturés à l'acquéreur par la salle des ventes). Les pièces de monnaie en or (AV) sont dispensées de la TVA.
En cas d'exportation de l'objet adjugé vers l'étranger, l'acquéreur se voit restituer la TVA lorsqu'il est en mesure de présenter une déclaration d'exportation réglementaire, en bonne et due forme, des autorités douanières suisses.
6. Le prix total en francs suisses est exigible immédiatement après adjudication et doit être acquitté lors de la remise de l'objet adjugé. Pour les paiements effectués ultérieurement un intérêt moratoire de 1% par mois sera facturé. La transmission de la propriété à l'acquéreur a lieu seulement à paiement intégral. En général, NAC ne remet l'objet adjugé à l'acquéreur pas avant paiement. Une éventuelle remise de l'objet n'a cependant pas de l'influence ni sur la propriété du vendeur ni sur l'obligation de l'acquéreur de payer.
En cas que l'acquéreur n'a pas payé simultanément et non plus entre les cinq jours après réception d'un avertissement sous pli recommandé, NAC est en droit de se départir du contrat sans autre formalité et sans avis ultérieur.
7. Les frais d'envoi et d'assurance sont à charge et au risque de l'acheteur. Les taxes ou les impôts facturés à l'étranger sont à la charge de l'acquéreur (enchérisseur). Il lui incombe de s'informer au sujet des directives étrangères en matière de douane et de devises. La salle des ventes décline toute responsabilité pour les éventuelles infractions à l'encontre de ces directives.

8. La salle des ventes garantit l'authenticité des monnaies sans réserve et sans limitation dans le temps. Toutes les indications mentionnées dans le catalogue sont rassemblées en toute conscience et en toute bonne foi.
9. Les objets mis aux enchères le sont pour le compte de tierces personnes ou bien sont la propriété de la salle des ventes. L'acquéreur (enchérisseur) n'a aucun droit d'obtenir communication du nom de la personne qui met en vente et se déclare en accord avec le fait que la salle des ventes perçoive une provision de cette dernière.
10. Les présentes conditions font partie intégrante de tout contrat de vente conclu dans le cadre de la vente aux enchères. Les modifications ne sont valables que par écrit. Le fait que des parties des présentes conditions de vente aux enchères venaient à ne plus correspondre, ou du moins plus intégralement, à la situation juridique en vigueur, n'affecte en rien les autres parties, ni dans leur contenu, ni dans leur validité. La version en langue allemande constitue la référence des présentes conditions de vente aux enchères.
11. La relation contractuelle entre les parties en cause est soumise, dans toutes ses composantes, au droit Suisse. La compétence juridique est fixée au siège de la salle des ventes à 8001 Zurich, et le for juridique exclusif est Zurich.

Condizioni di vendita

La partecipazione all'asta comporta l'accettazione delle seguenti condizioni:

1. La valuta in cui viene condotta l'asta è il Franco Svizzero. L'aggiudicazione al miglior offerente, individuato dal banditore, avviene dopo la terza chiamata e comporta per l'aggiudicatario l'acquisto con tutti i relativi obblighi di legge. Le offerte partono generalmente dall'80% del prezzo di stima a meno che una o più offerte d'importo maggiore siano state presentate. Le offerte scritte hanno la precedenza. Il partecipante all'asta è personalmente responsabile per l'acquisto effettuato e non può pretendere di avere agito per conto di terzi.
2. I partecipanti all'asta non presenti in sala possono presentare offerte telefonicamente, in forma scritta, o per via elettronica fino a 24 ore prima dell'inizio dell'asta. Chi trasmette la propria offerta telefonicamente presta il proprio consenso all'eventuale registrazione della telefonata. La casa d'asta non assume alcun tipo di responsabilità per le offerte trasmesse in forma scritta, elettronica o telefonica.
3. I partecipanti, per concorrere all'asta, dovranno esibire un documento d'identità e registrarsi. La casa d'asta si riserva il diritto di richiedere referenze bancarie o un deposito cauzionale per permettere la partecipazione all'asta. La casa d'asta si riserva inoltre il diritto di non permettere a un soggetto la partecipazione all'asta.
4. Il banditore d'asta ha facoltà di aumentare o rifiutare un'offerta secondo la propria discrezionalità e senza necessità di fornire una motivazione. Il banditore si riserva inoltre il diritto di unire, separare, cambiare la sequenza prevista o di eliminare e/o ritirare dall'asta determinati lotti.
5. Al prezzo d'aggiudicazione va aggiunta una commissione del 21,0%. Per le aste elettroniche nessuna commissione verrà applicata ai partecipanti online. L'imposta svizzera sul valore aggiunto, pari attualmente al 7,7%, viene applicata sul prezzo finale (prezzo d'aggiudicazione più commissione ed ogni altro importo imputabile al compratore dalla casa d'aste). Le monete in oro (AV) sono esonerate dal pagamento dell'IVA.
In caso d'esportazione dell'oggetto acquistato all'asta verso un paese estero, il compratore ha diritto al rimborso dell'IVA dietro consegna di una valida dichiarazione d'esportazione dell'ufficio doganale della Confederazione Elvetica.
6. Il pagamento è da effettuarsi in Franchi Svizzeri immediatamente all'aggiudicazione del lotto, a meno che concordato diversamente prima dell'asta. In caso di pagamento ritardato, il tasso d'interesse moratorio applicabile è pari all'1% mensile. La proprietà del lotto non passerà al compratore fino a che la NAC non riceverà il pagamento a saldo dell'acquisto. Generalmente la NAC non rilascia un lotto al compratore prima di ricevere il pagamento di tale. La consegna anticipata di un lotto non incide sulla proprietà di tale né sull'obbligo di pagamento da parte del compratore.
Se il compratore non paga subito e nel caso in cui egli non effettui il pagamento entro 5 giorni dalla ricezione di una raccomandata scritta da NAC come avviso di mancato pagamento, la NAC si riserverà la facoltà di cancellare la vendita di tale lotto.
7. I costi ed il rischio della spedizione sono a carico del destinatario. Qualunque imposta e contributo legalmente dovuto nel paese d'esportazione è a carico dell'acquirente (compratore in sede d'asta) su cui ricade la responsabilità per la conoscenza delle norme vigenti in materia doganale e di valuta. La casa d'aste non assume alcuna responsabilità per l'eventuale violazione di tali prescrizioni.
8. La casa d'asta offre una garanzia incondizionata e senza riserva di tempo sull'autenticità delle monete. Le indicazioni e descrizioni contenute nel catalogo sono opinioni soggettive e sono espresse in buona fede.
9. Gli oggetti offerti vengono messi all'asta per conto di terzi o sono di proprietà della casa d'asta. L'acquirente (compratore in sede d'asta) non ha il diritto di conoscere l'identità del consegnatario dell'oggetto e prende atto che alla casa d'asta potrebbe venir corrisposta dal consegnatario una commissione per la vendita.
10. Le condizioni sopra menzionate costituiscono parte integrante di ciascun contratto individuale di vendita concluso nell'asta. Eventuali modifiche saranno ritenute valide solo se fatte in forma scritta. Nel caso in cui una parte delle presenti Condizioni di Vendita dovesse essere non più totalmente conforme alle vigenti disposizioni di legge, ciò non avrà effetto sulla validità delle parti restanti. L'unica versione di testo delle Condizioni di Vendita che ha valore legale è quella in lingua tedesca.
11. Il rapporto contrattuale fra le parti è regolato in tutti i suoi aspetti dal diritto della Confederazione Elvetica. Il luogo d'adempimento è la sede della casa d'aste a Zurigo (8001). Il foro competente è esclusivamente quello di Zurigo.

Note on US Import Restrictions

In accordance with US Customs and Border Protection regulations (19 CFR Part 12), we attest that all ancient Greek coins, from mints that are now within the modern boundaries of Italy, either have an export licence issued by the Republic of Italy or were outside of Italy prior to 19 January 2011. We also attest that all ancient Greek coins, from mints that are now within the modern boundaries of Greece, were outside of Greece before 1 December 2011. In addition, all coins from mints that are now within the modern boundaries of Bulgaria, Cyprus, Egypt, Iran, Syria, Iraq, Libya, Algeria and Jordan were, in the case of Bulgaria, Cyprus, Egypt and Iran, outside of those countries before 30 May 2005, in the case of Iraq before 2 August 1990, in the case of Syria before 15 March 2011, in the case of Libya before July 2018, in the case of Algeria, before August 2019 and in the case of Jordan before 5 February 2020. Numismatica Ars Classica NAC AG will provide appropriate documentation to assist with the importation of any purchased lots into the USA. All other coins were in the possession of Numismatica Ars Classica NAC AG or its consignors prior to these dates.

An exceptionally rare overstrike of a nomos of Poseidonia over a nomos of Kaulonia. Old cabinet tone. Traces of overstriking clearly visible on obverse and an irregular flan, otherwise about extremely fine 3'000

Ex Naville Numismatics sale 15, 2015, 9.

Poseidonia was founded in Lucania by Achaian Greek colonists from Sybaris, probably around 600 BC. The city appears to have flourished in the sixth century BC, when it and other Greek cities of Magna Graecia in southern Italy began to produce a remarkable archaic silver coinage featuring reverse types that were the incuse version of the raised type on the obverse. It has been suggested that this unusual and technically difficult form of coinage may have developed out of a regional tradition of repoussé metalwork. The present piece is a nomos of Poseidonia, featuring, as one might expect, the figure of Poseidon advancing and brandishing his trident. The coin is distinguished as a great rarity by both its double struck reverse—an error that is very uncommon for the incuse coinages of Magna Graecia—and especially the fact that it is overstruck on a stater of Kaulonia, a neighboring Achaian city in Bruttium. Part of the Δ of the ethnic naming Poseidonia is visible on the obverse as are the first two letters of the host coin's ethnic naming Caulonia. Since the hoard record shows that staters of Poseidonia and Kaulonia regularly circulated side by side it seems improbable that the overstriking took place for economic reasons (i.e., a stater of Poseidonia had greater value than a stater of Kaulonia in a particular context and therefore it was worthwhile to overstrike Kaulonian staters as Poseidonian ones). Thus, it may be more reasonable to see a political motivation behind the overstriking here. One could speculate that the Poseidonians might have overstruck coins of Kaulonia during the unrest that enveloped Magna Graecia in the last decade of the sixth century BC, after Pythagoras and his followers were expelled from Kroton. The political views of the Pythagoreans seem to have caused divisions in several cities and perhaps the authorities of Poseidonia wished to steer clear of political revolution at home. Kaulonia, on the other hand is said to have briefly hosted the fleeing Pythagoreans as they made their way to safety at Metapontion. In such a scenario, one could read the act of overstriking as a Poseidonian declaration against the Pythagoreans and their allies. Of course, the evidence for the history of Poseidonia and Kaulonia is very scant in the sixth century BC, and other explanations of the overstrike may be possible.

An extremely rare issue, possibly the last incuse issue of Croton. Irregular narrow flan, otherwise good very fine / about extremely fine 500

From a private European collection and privately purchased in 1980.

The style of the tripod and the diameter of the flan, which differs from the vast majority of the specimens known leads us to believe that this could possibly be the last incuse issue of the mint of Croton. The weight of the coin is extremely light, nevertheless the metal is excellent and the break on the edge of the coin does not show a bronze core.

For more than a century the facing lion's scalp was a familiar sight to Greek merchants in Italy and Sicily as the badge of large-denomination silver coins of Rhegium. Initially Rhegium's trade coins were in the form of staters struck to the Euboic-Chalcidian standard, and later they became tetradrachms of the Euboic-Attic standard (such as the present coin). In both cases the choice of denomination and weight were dictated by what was commercially useful in Sicily.

The portrait of a youthful, effeminate Apollo on the reverse would have been equally as familiar as the lion's scalp; indeed, they would have been considered inseparable since they had been paired for about two generations by the time this coin was struck. Its elegant appeal had supplanted the earlier reverse type of the seated figure of Iocastes, the traditional founder of the city.

The major exception to the lion's scalp being the principal design on Rhegium's trade coins occurs on tetradrachms struck circa 480-462 B.C., when the tyrant Anaxilas initiated a complete overhaul of the coinage, which involved a change in design. He chose the types of a mule cart and a bounding hare, which did not long persist at Rhegium, but which became the standard design at the Sicilian city of Zancle, directly across the straits, which Anaxilas occupied and renamed Messana.

Every single book has a few mistakes and Caltabiano is no exception. This specimen is indeed 388.15 (the one illustrated in Rizzo), nevertheless it is also listed as 13. Unfortunately, the provenances listed for 13 refer to a different coin- the one listed as number 8. To cut a long story short, the coin listed as number 13 should be deleted from the list, thus the specimens known of this die couple are 15 and not 16 and the coins in private hands are only 5 and not 6. It is important to note that the specimens of the whole issue (four different die couplings) in private hands are only 7 and the coin presented here is probably the finest.

Ex Drouot sale 12 November 1980, 946.

Sicilian coinage first began in the final decades of the sixth century, probably around 530/25 B.C. It made its first appearance at four mints: the Chalcidian colonies of Zancle (later named Messana), Himera, and Naxos, and also at the city of Selinus, a colony of Megara Hyblaea. Despite the common Chalcidian heritage of three of these cities, the coinage of each was strikingly different from the others: the standards in use at Zancle, Himera, and Naxos were based on a third of the Chalcidian stater, while the Selinunte didrachm was of Attic-Euboic weight; the reverses of both Himera and Selinus employed incuse squares divided into alternately raised and sunken triangles, while Zancle used a schematised pattern with a cockle shell in the centre and Naxos used a two-type design. Thus when Syracuse followed its Sicilian neighbours and began striking its own coinage c. 510 B.C., it is not surprising that they chose to follow no one, decidedly taking their own unique path. The first coins minted at Syracuse were tetradrachms, struck on the Attic standard of approximately 17.20 g. The obverse type was of purely Syracusan origin, and depicted a male charioteer driving a quadriga with the city ethnic above. The style is severe with sharp relief planes and recall the style from certain early Macedonian mints (indeed, as a rule, hoards of Sicilian coins are not found outside Sicily, yet hoards containing coins from Acanthus in Macedon have been found at Syracuse). This was the period before the tyrants, a time when Syracuse was ruled by an oligarchy of wealthy citizens. These ruling aristocrats would have enjoyed equestrian pursuits, especially the great chariot contests at Delphi and Olympia, and it is therefore thought that the chariot design reflects these interests. The reverse of the very first tetradrachm issue is a simple four-part incuse square design, the sections divided by thin crossing lines, and was copied from the same Acanthian (and perhaps other Macedonian) tetradrachms that served as inspiration for the obverse. Soon after this very rare first issue, the reverse was modified to include a small central medallion containing the head of Arethusa, a local fountain goddess, facing to the left, her strong and logical archaic features of characteristically Dorian style. The superimposition of a medallion on the reverse had already occurred at Athens, the coins of which apparently served as inspiration for this design element appearing at Syracuse. Throughout the fifth century, Syracuse continued to prosper and the city soon came to predominate over the regional affairs of Sicily. The unique chariot type and the tetradrachm denomination of Attic standard first adopted at Syracuse would, in time, become the principal type and denomination throughout the whole of the island, and was even widely copied by the Carthaginians at their Punic mints during the fourth century B.C.

The tetradrachms of Syracuse underwent a subtle stylistic evolution in the second quarter of the 5th Century B.C.; the compact Arethusa head of the massive issue of the late 480s was transformed into one with a longer, thinner profile. A defining design element on the tetradrachms of this period is the ketos (pistrix), a sea-serpent that appears beneath the chariot scene. It was introduced during the reign of Hieron (478-466 B.C.) and outlasted the Deinomenid house, for it also was used under the democratic government that followed. The meaning of this sea-serpent is debated, though it is often thought to represent Syracusan naval power following the defeat of the Etruscan fleet off the coast of Cumae in 474 B.C. This tetradrachm was struck with masterful dies. The head of the divinity is serene and ideally proportioned, with her hair neatly arranged; her diadem curves over her ear and captures the end of her hair, which is pulled up and contained. Her bust is framed by the pearls or beads of her diadem and her necklace, which offer a contrasting texture to that of her hair and face. Equally impressive is the great size of the dolphins and horses, which give them a robust, lively appearance. Though the treatment of the chariot and Arethusa are distinctive in their details and composition, the 'severity' of the style is reminiscent of the 'Demaretion Master' issues, which belong to the early part of this period. The transitional window to which this coin belongs was regrettably short, and soon afterward the portraits often become ill-proportioned, brutish and generally unappealing. Fortunately, by 450 B.C. or soon after, Syracusan coinage entered another inventive phase defined by signed masterpieces with varied treatments of Arethusa and innovative presentations of the quadriga scene.

Ex Auctiones sale 13, 1983, 91. From a private European collection.

Coins of the artist Euainetos are among the most exquisite works of art from the ancient Greek world. Of special value are his decadrachms, which must have been distributed widely, for they were influential to artists in regions far removed from the shores of Sicily. It is unlikely that many were exported through the normal channels of commerce, and we might suggest that, much like the stateres of Olympia, some were acquired as keepsakes and were carried to a variety of destinations. The decadrachms of Kimon and Euainetos were introduced early in the reign of the tyrant Dionysius I (405-367 B.C.), and those of Euainetos continued to be struck for decades, perhaps even beyond the 360s. We might presume that Dionysius took a personal interest in producing such large coins of fine style to evince his patronage of the arts and to promote the success of his rule. There is also good reason to believe that after Euainetos' initial contributions, die cutting for the series eventually was carried out by understudies and successors. In some cases, Euainetos' signature appears to have been retained as a fixed element of the design until about midway through, when it was lost altogether. In general, these understudies meticulously copied the work of the master engraver. Gallatin notes that the entire series shows a most amazing repetition of the details of the arrangement of the hair, locks and curls being slavishly repeated. Though a precise context has not been convincingly established for the Syracusan decadrachms of Kimon and Euainetos, it is tempting to associate their introduction with a military victory. The display of armour and weaponry that appears in the exergue is militant, and the inscription ΑΘΛΑ, which indicates prizes for at least agonistic contests, only adds to that prospect. Since it was a common practice of Greek soldiers to engrave dedicatory inscriptions on captured armour, a connection might be drawn between that phenomenon and what is presented on the decadrachms. The obverse also appears to allude to victory with its vivid scene of a charioteer guiding his team through a bend.

Islands off Elis, Zacynthus

- 226 Drachm circa 500-450, AR 15 mm, 3.54 g. Amphora. Rev. Tripod within incuse square. Cf. Traité 1267 and pl. XXXIX, 13 Cf. Gardner, NC 1885, cf. p. 89, 2 and pl. I, 2.
Of the highest rarity, only very few specimens known.
Old cabinet tone, struck from a worn die on obverse, otherwise about very fine 200

From a British collection and privately purchased in 1980.

This coins of Zacynthus are of the highest rarity and as far as we are concerned they haven't been offered in a public auctions at least in the last fifty years. The only published specimens of this denomination are the ones illustrated by Babelon in Traité and by Gardner in an article published in Numismatic Chronicle 1885. All these coins have an amphora of very different shape from the one of the present specimen, while the tripod on the reverse is consistent with the series. We have therefore decided to email BCD to ask his opinion as we were not sure that the attribution to Zacynthus was correct. His reply was the following:

If you look at the 1868 Greek publication by A. Postolacca, describing the ancient coins of the Ionian islands collected by Paul Lambros and donated to the National University by Alexander Mourouzis, a very similar coin to yours features in an engraving on plate E', no. 990. The obverse is of a different style and with letters on either side and the weight is 3.83. However, the interest lies in no. 989, a non illustrated (non engraved) coin, coming immediately before no. 990. Its flan is given as 3 3/4 i.e. slightly broader than no. 990 which is just 3, but there are no letters listed on the obverse and the amphora is termed "conical", whatever that means. We may indeed here have a very similar coin to yours, unfortunately not illustrated. Whether the Museum people will be able to dig it out and send you a photo is highly debatable but if you want I can send you a scan of the Greek text page and the plate if you do not have the book in your library.

Unfortunately, the current situation made for us impossible to contact the Museum people.

Uncertain mint

- 249 Stater circa 650-600, EL 22 mm, 13.42 g. Striated surface. Rev. Two parallel incuse rectangles separated by a broad band. Rosen 249. AMB 572 (this coin). Basel p. 9 (this coin). Mildenberg, Münzwesen, pl. I, 1 (this coin). Extremely rare. An issue of tremendous importance and fascination and one of the very few specimens of this early series with an old provenance. Extremely fine 35'000

Ex Hess-Leu 31, 1966, Brand, 444; NAC 13, 1998, formerly exhibited at Antike Museum Basel, 572 and CNG 100, 2015, Adams, 89 sales. From the A.D.M. collection.

Undoubtedly one of the earliest coins known, this fascinating stater is quite enigmatic. The find spot is unknown. It has been variously attributed to Samos (AMB) or to an uncertain mint in either Ionia or Lydia (Mildenberg), but its weight does support either of these attributions. If it were from either Samos or from some unidentified mint in the region of either Ionia or Lydia in western Asian minor, we would expect it to be struck according to either the Euboic-Samian standard (17.2 g) or the Lydo-Milesian standard (14.1 g), but it is struck to neither. Both this coin and the one other published example, Rosen 249, weigh 13.4 g, which is in line with weights of electrum staters known to have been struck in the Thraco-Macedonian region, an area in northern Greece using series of three complicated but parallel weight standards. The types also offer little indication in determining the mint. While striated types are well attested from Ionia, it is not certain exactly what is represented by the obverse design on this particular coin; the striations on this coin are only vaguely similar to those seen on Ionian issues. Also, as noted by the cataloguer of this coin in the Adams sale, the obverse here has a rounded character (the CNG numismatist hinted at a shield design), while the Rosen example is square. If there is any significance to these features it is not readily apparent, yet it should be noted that it is distinctly different from the striated types of Ionian manufacture where there is never any form to the design.

An apparently unrecorded variety with control mark "A" on reverse upside down. Lovely old cabinet tone and very fine 250

Ex Jesus Vico sale 123, 2010, 121. This coin is sold with an export licence issued by the Republic of Italy.

This is the first series with control marks, applied to both sides of coins in the form of letters of the Latin alphabet. Crawford published a paper ('N.FABI PICTOR', NC 1965, pp. 149-54) on this series identifying 13 obv. and 19 rev. letters. Letter G on both the reverse and obverse has appeared since then. All 21 letters but T are known on the reverse, showing an unusually high consumption of reverse dies compared to obverses. The reverse die of this coin, published in "P. Debernardi: 'Some Unlisted Varieties and Rare Dies in Roman Republican Coinage', NC 2010, pp. 94", is unique, and represents the last die of the series, using an upside down letter A.

A very unusual portrait of fine style and a pleasant light tone. Very fine 200

Ex Aureo sale 25 May 2011, 14. This coin is sold with an export licence issued by the Republic of Italy.

The style of this obverse is very different from the mainstream of the series; its most distinctive difference is the griffin tufts, normally spiky (see RRC 317/1), and here curly. This is the main style (engraver school) of Coilius Calvus (RRC 318). This style is rarely found in RRC 317/3 and forms a very rare group within this large coinage, comparable in rarity with RRC 317/1 and /2; in fact only 10 dies are known, uniquely paired with reverses with control letters below the horses. This detail has recently been published: P. Debernardi and R. Schaefer, L'importante collezione di monete romano-repubblicane del Museo Correr, Bollettino del Museo Correr 2016, pp. 66-73.

Ex Jesus Vico sale 121, 2009, 257. This coin is sold with an export licence issued by the Republic of Italy.

This is the only example in private hands of RRC 353/1b, previously known only from the Cosa hoard specimen listed by RRC. It differs from 1a and 1c as the obverse ethnic combines both the C.F. and AP monogram. This coin is published in P. Debernardi: 'Some Unlisted Varieties and Rare Dies in Roman Republican Coinage', NC 2010, pp. 96. It is worth noting that all the specimens listed in Coins Archives as 353/1b are incorrectly catalogued and that this is the first time that this Crawford number appears in public auction.

Ex Crippa Fixed Price List 4, 1971, 309. This coin is sold with an export licence issued by the Republic of Italy.

For sale is eight lots of RRC 363, L.CENSOR, the best specimens of the most comprehensive collection of this series in private hands in terms of the variety of symbols. From a still unpublished die study, around 600 dies were produced in this series, all but twenty without controlmarks. As for the series of P.CREPVSI, two engraver schools produced these dies, which Ted Buttrey called G (gross) and F (fine) engravers. The die study reveals very few different engravers, producing a limited number of dies or just one. This is the case for this unique die, produced by a master engraver who would've worked solely on it. This might be understood in the framework of a kind of "mint contest" to select the engravers for a series. This coin, in superb preservation and with iridescent hues, is therefore of the highest rarity and one of the best among the other ten known specimens. Charles Hersh recognized its specificity and had a coin with the same dies in his collection (now BM inv. 2002,0102.3048).

An extremely rare variety with control mark A, only three specimens in private hands.
Lovely iridescent tone and unusually well centred and complete for the issue, an Insignificant edge scuff at seven o'clock on obverse, otherwise good very fine 600

Ex Centauro sale 4, 2008, 181. This coin is sold with an export licence issued by the Republic of Italy.

RRC 370 is known in two varieties: 1a (letter A) and 1b (letter B). Among the 3 restored issues, this is the only one attempting a control letter system on the obverse. However it is still very difficult to understand it, since only two letters are known and A is exceedingly rare: there are only a few examples known, produced by two dies. It is missing in the famous RBW collection, Hersh's collection had the example in very poor condition now at the British Museum (inv. 2002.0102.3164), meaning he was not able to find a better one throughout his whole life. Baron d'Ailly had one (BnF Rep 18611) and the pieces in the JD collection were sold in NAC 78, 438.

The present coin has the same dies of Ailly's and Hesh's specimens. In a study still in progress (A. Campana), a sample of 138 pieces has been collected, containing only six of 370/1a, struck by two dies. The present specimen is the third in private hands.

RRC list this variety as separate from the main body of the series, RRC 388/1b, with numerals on the obverse behind the helmeted head of Roma, where the dies are more than one hundred. The existence of "blank" dies (missing control mark) is known in other series, as in the deeply studied P.CREPVSII, RRC 361, where the first obverse "master" die is not marked with any letter or numeral and given the number RRC 361/1a (only one die), but also in other series not noted in RRC, like in RRC 391/2 (P. Debernardi: 'Some Unlisted Varieties and Rare Dies in Roman Republican Coinage', NC 2010, pp. 96). Being produced by only one die this type is very rare, known only in about ten pieces, and this specimen, together with NAC 63, 197, is one of the best known.

Ex Gorny & Mosch sale 191, 2010, 1969. This coin is sold with an export licence issued by the Republic of Italy.

This is the coin depicted in Fig.21 of the paper 'Some Unlisted Varieties and Rare Dies in Roman Republican Coinage', NC 2010. The production of Hosidius consists of two types: /1, serrate, and /2, with regular flan and slightly different obverse design. This coin has the design of 407/2 but a serrate flan. Until the previously cited paper, this kind of hybrid (a few other examples are known) were considered merely as mint errors, but in that case one might have expected the occurrence of a greater number of dies among them. The pattern described in the cited paper suggests a deliberate policy at the mint. The explanation may be that, when the mint decided to switch from serrate to normal flans, a stock of serrate flans remained unused. By then the old 407/1 dies were broken or worn out, and it was decided to employ a couple of the new 407/2 dies in order to use up the old serrate flans, before the regular flans of 407/2 were introduced. The task may have taken up the whole life of the first obverse die, before the second die finished off the serrate flans and moved on to the regular flans of 407/2. These hybrid coins would thus form a small subgroup transitional between 407/1 and 407/2.

Ex Hess-Leu 7, 1957, 336; Superior 10 December 1988, Moreira, 2245 and Triton XXII, 2019, 552 sales. From the Prieur collection. As the struggle between Marcus Antonius and Octavian dragged on in the 30s BC, the geographical and political lines became ever more defined. Antony had become entrenched in the Eastern Mediterranean, and in doing so had allied himself with Cleopatra VII, queen of Egypt, whose original supporter in Rome, Iulius Caesar, had been murdered years before. She had his son, Caesarion, at her side, but she needed an ally like Antony if she hoped to preserve Egypt from the ever-widening grasp of Rome. Importantly, Antony was easier to manipulate than Octavian, who had no sympathy for Cleopatra's motives. Although this woman of blinding intellect may have found her marriage to Antony a degrading experience, personally, she was crafty enough to realise it was her only chance at survival. Hence, she was probably eager to issue dual-portrait coins, such as the billon tetradrachm offered here. The level of concession is clear, especially on this example: Cleopatra's portrait has taken on the facial features of Antony in a very strong way, yet she retains for herself the position of dominance by placing her portrait on the obverse. Little more indication is necessary to recognise that Cleopatra had effectively dominated her husband, the Roman warlord Antony. The date and mint of these coins is uncertain, as the coins themselves provide no substantial clue. They are typically described as having been struck at Antioch, though there is good reason to believe that they were produced further south, in Cleopatra's Phoenician territory. The date circa 36-34 BC has been suggested, and is generally believed appropriate. If so, we might see this coinage as supporting Antony's invasion of Parthia, a colossal failure that cost the lives of many thousands of Roman soldiers.

The crossed-cornucopias design is familiar on ancient coinage, and here the cornucopias, grape clusters, grape leaves and pine cones seemingly allude to Bacchus or Liber in a reference to fecundity. In terms of dynastic appeal, the design boasts of the prosperity and fruitfulness of the Tiberian line, with the caduceus symbolizing Mercury as the messenger of the gods and the bringer of good fortune. Despite the hopefulness represented by this series of coins, tragedy struck on two fronts. The 'Tiberian dynasty' collapsed within months of its being announced when both Drusus and his son Germanicus Gemellus (the boy whose head is shown on the right cornucopia) died in 23. Poor fates awaited the remaining two members: Drusus' wife Livilla became increasingly associated with Tiberius' prefect Sejanus, and she died shamefully in the aftermath of his downfall in 31, and the second grandson, Tiberius Gemellus, survived long enough to be named co-heir of Tiberius with Caligula, but after Tiberius' death he was pushed into a subsidiary role and soon was executed by Caligula, who would not tolerate a second heir to the throne.

Published in 1977 in Corpus Nummorum Romanorum vol. XIV, p. 51, 33.

Claudius was the youngest of the three surviving children of Drusus and Antonia Minor and the first Roman emperor to have been born outside Rome. He suffered an illness while still very young which left him with a speech impediment and limp. This caused much embarrassment to his aristocratic family who attempted to keep him from both the public and, unlike other sons of the imperial household, out of politics. It was this same disability, however, that saved him from the intrigues at court that proved fatal to so many of his relatives during the reigns of Tiberius and Caligula; by the time he was elevated to the throne by the Praetorian Guard after Caligula's assassination, he was the last surviving male of his family. Despite having little experience in politics, Claudius had a keen and scholarly intellect, and soon proved himself an able administrator. He respected the senate and declined many honors traditionally bestowed on an emperor, preferring to earn them instead, and he initiated extensive public works that were necessary and beneficial. Despite his effectiveness as ruler, however, it seems Claudius possibly fell victim to the intrigues of his fourth wife, Agrippina the Younger: wanting her own son, Nero, to succeed her husband on the throne, she fed Claudius a dish of poisonous mushrooms, or so the story goes as related by Suetonius. Seneca said that Claudius died of natural causes, and as he was already 64 at the time of his death and an alcoholic, it may be that he simply succumbed to infirmity related to old age and excessive drinking. This wonderfully preserved aureus of Claudius includes a rather pleasant portrait of the emperor, showing the long Julio-Claudian neck common on the portraits of his predecessors. We must assume this was simple artistic convention; under Claudius' successor, Nero, an imperial patron of the arts, we see a distinct departure from the preceding idealization to a more refined realism and more exact proportions in imperial portraiture. The reverse displays the triumphal arch of Claudius, inscribed on its entablature the legend DE BRITANN and surmounted by an equestrian statue of the emperor between two military trophies. The type celebrates Claudius successful invasion of Britain in AD 43 under the leadership of the illustrious senator and general, Aulus Plautius. The arch depicted was a converted arch of the Aqua Virgo, the Roman aqueduct which crossed the main road to leading north through Rome, the Via Flaminia. At the time this coin was struck in AD 46, the arch had not yet been converted, so according to Hill, The Monuments of Ancient Rome as Coin Types, p. 51, the type represents a 'blueprint' of the actual structure.

Few of Vespasian's coin types illustrate as profoundly as this ROMA RESVRGES sestertius the task confronting this new emperor upon his arrival in Rome. Vespasian himself takes credit for initiating this task, for he is shown standing, raising from her knees the kneeling figure of Roma accompanied by Virtus. What the benefit of hindsight we can say Vespasian was entirely successful in his restoration of Rome's fortunes, and in keeping the promise he makes on this sestertius. The capital had been ravaged during the civil war; even its inviolable Temple of Jupiter Capitolinus was burned to the ground in the last days of Vitellius' regime. Rebuilding Rome and her empire was no easy task, and Suetonius tells us Vespasian estimated it would cost no less than 400 million aurei. Vespasian attained a reputation for fiscal creativity, for he would collect money in most any way possible. He became equally renowned as his stinginess, but in the end he achieved his objective by raising Rome back to her unquestioned position of dominance in the Mediterranean world. Interestingly, this attractive reverse scene is also paired on some sestertii with the inscription LIBERTAS RESTITVTA. Considering C. M. Kraay, in his 1978 die study of Vespasian's aes, could locate only one die for each issue, we know both coinages were extremely limited. There is only the slightest variation between the scenes on these two dies, which at first glance seem identical except for the inscriptions, and as such we have every reason to presume the same gifted artist engraved both dies.

RIC 774. CBN 1026 (modern forgery section). Woytek X22. Apparently unique. A portrait of fine style, metal somewhat corroded, otherwise very fine 2'000
Ex Aureo & Calicò sale 310, 2018, 1063.

According to Woytek no genuine specimens of this issue existed at the time of publication of his corpus on the coinage of Trajan. The Vatican was supposed to have one specimen, but according to Woytek this coin is not present in the collection. The specimen listed in the CBN is an obvious forgery and listed as such. The authenticity of this specimen is beyond any possible doubt: the head of Mars is of excellent style, as you would expect for a restoration issue, and quite different from the Republican prototype. The light weight and poor quality of the metal are again quite consistent with the series and the oxidation and corrosion absolutely convincing. We must therefore conclude that this is a unique specimen confirming the existence of this restoration issue.

An insignificant area of weakness on reverse and minor encrustation on obverse, otherwise about very fine / good very fine 1'000

Privately purchased from Spink & Son in December 2000.

Medallion production was very popular under Commodus. Under his empire we have, by far, the largest production of these fascinating coins; bi-metallic ones being no exception. This silver-centre is not only unique for Commodus but for the entire bi-metallic production which makes it a piece of great historical interest. We tried to study the edge to identify the material of the exterior disc but unfortunately we were unable to come to a conclusion and while it would be fascinating to think it could have been made of gold, it was most probably bronze. In any case this remains an incredibly important presentation piece and there's no doubt its production was intended for a very special purpose.
